got this from another guy:

I start thinking of someone, almost ready to pick up the phone and it rings, it's the person I'm thinking of saying, I was just thinking of you!

I've been working on project, concerning Gay Marriage for a friend crafting equal justice TV ads.

My ads are using several levers, equal rights, Bill of Rights etc and I've been exploring the idea of one's beliefs shouldn't limit another one's rights. Like cracking a code exploring how people act on their befiefs rather than truths or knowledge, the underlying themes I'm using. You are free to believe what you want but not free to act on this if it hurts others, A complex thought process.
Then Friday night on PBS:s Bill Moyer's, there's a whole conversation about belief and facts and truth.
Just what I was thinking!

It's almost as if a univeral mind is happening! Really fun stuff!

So here's an idea I've had for awhile.

One Flew OTCCN defined freedom, liberation from a system.

Chapter 2: Sometimes Great Notion: learning to act as individual liberated.

Chapter 3: The bus

Chapter 4: The Acid Tests, taking this all public and to community.

Chapter 5: the Whole Earth Calalog, distributing knowledge

Chapter 6: The sleeping giant, where we are now!

Chapter 7: The universal mind. Internet included. It's almost like the concept of a hundredth monkey's.
Idea's happen spontaniously through out the planet. I think something here, someone in India is thinking the same process there also.
It's not massive top down control, it's awareness blooming throughout the universe spontanously.

Just a thought! But when these fun thing happen, it might make more real the idea we are all connected and that are evolving from our past experiences to a new chapter or our being.

No drugs, little coffee, very inferesting!
